CMC Mission

The Career Management Center (CMC) empowers Columbia Business School students and alumni to achieve their lifelong career ambitions.

We accomplish this through:

Providing education and guidance on core job search and leadership capabilities

Developing and maintaining relationships with employers

Building a culture of shared career support across the Columbia Business School community

How to Use This Book

Industries are color coded to help you easily find the Advisor, CMC Fellow, CMC Coach or Executive in Residence that is relevant to your goals.

Learn about the backgrounds and experience of the experts in your target industries.

Use the section overviews to understand who to see at what stage of your search.

Reach out to us with any questions:

The ACE Model

Our ACE model of career education is unique to Columbia Business School – our position at the center of business in New York allows us to offer MBA students a wide range of resources.

cACE Ecosystem

Your cACE team at Columbia Business School offers a robust ecosystem of career support across all industries. This support starts with the CMC's core ACE (cACE) Team of Advisors, Fellows, and Coaches and extends across the CBS community to provide you with a broad and deep array of industry expertise that empowers you to achieve your lifelong career ambitions.

SECTION 2

Advisors

Executives in Residence

As participants in the Executives in Residence Program at Columbia Business School, a number of senior executives from a wide range of industries augment the educational experience for students. These leaders are recently retired or semiretired from one career and avidly pursue other activities and boards. Among other projects, the executives counsel students on their academic and career goals, lecture in class, and advise clubs. The program, established in 1971, is an extraordinary resource for students, faculty, and staff, and has contributed significantly over the years to the strategic development of the School.

You may sign up for an appointment with an Executive in COIN or contact the Executive in Residence office at (212) 854-6100. Further information is also available at <https://business.columbia.edu/executives-residence> and office hours are included in The Gazette, a biweekly EIR newsletter that will be emailed to you.

Al Drewes '82

Director, Executives in Residence Program

Al Drewes '82 brings over 35 years of executive experience with both global public and private equity portfolio companies in the consumer products space. Most recently he was the COO of the Sun Products Corporation. Prior to joining Sun Products, Al was the Senior Vice President and CFO of the Pepsi Bottling Group, where his initiatives included multibillion dollar acquisitions in Mexico and Russia.

Education: B.S., University of Massachusetts, Amherst; MBA, Columbia Business School

Fun Facts: I play and collect vintage Martin and Gibson guitars, and I spent my Covid-19 quarantine time reading Henry Kissinger's books on diplomacy and international relations.

HEALTHCARE

Juan Ramón Alaix

Juan Ramon Alaix is the former Chief Executive Officer of Zoetis. During his seven-year tenure as CEO, Zoetis became the global leader in animal health, with $5.8 billion in revenue in 2018, a market capitalization of nearly $60 billion, and several groundbreaking new medicines ranked among the top products in the animal health industry. Mr. Alaix remains a member of the Zoetis Board of Directors and serves as an advisor to the company. In 2018, he was awarded the Deming Cup of Operational Excellence from the Columbia Business School for his achievements as CEO of Zoetis.

Education: Graduate Degree in Economics from the Universidad de Madrid.

Niren Chaudhary

Niren Chaudhary is the Chairman of the Board of Panera Brands, one of the world's largest fast casual restaurant companies with nearly 4,000 locations in 10 countries. Panera Brands is comprised of Panera Bread, Caribou Coffee and Einstein Bros Bagels.

Prior to becoming Chairman in 2023, Niren served as CEO of Panera Brands and Panera Bread. During his four-year tenure, Panera Brands strengthened its leadership in the fast casual segment by expanding its leading digital capabilities, which as of 2023 account for 51% of total sales at Panera Bread, while increasing its loyalty base to more than 53 million members and launching an innovative loyalty subscription model that resulted in 25% of all Panera transactions coming from Unlimited Sip Club members. Panera also increased its pace of innovation, strengthened franchisee partnerships and led the creation of a strong, people-first culture, resulting in industry-leading retention rates for GMs and associates, earning Black Box Intelligence's Employer of Choice Award in 2022.

Previously, Niren served as Chief Operating Officer and President of Krispy Kreme where he implemented a new operating model to elevate consistency across the global brand and created a path for enterprise value growth of 3x over 5 years. Prior to that, he spent 23 years at Yum! Brands serving in global leadership positions including Global President of KFC and President of Yum! India.

Niren is guided by his deep passion for serving others and building future leaders. He spends his personal time sharing his personal and professional journey with students and professionals, often wielding a guitar to sing about his life or even a new Panera menu item. In addition, he dedicates his personal time serving on the Tufts Medical Centre Board and as an advocate for DKMS, a leading non-profit with the world's largest stem cell donor registry.

As a lifelong learner, Niren focuses on both formal and informal education. Formally, Niren holds a bachelor's degree in Economics from St. Stephen's College in Delhi, an MBA in marketing from the University of Delhi, and completed the Advanced Management Program at Harvard Business School. Informally, Niren speaks 4 languages – Hindi, English, Dutch and German. He holds a black belt in Shotokan karate and is an avid golfer, tennis player and musician with his own rock band.

Josh Sapan

Josh Sapan is Executive Vice Chairman of AMC Networks, the global entertainment company behind the popular streaming services AMC+, Acorn TV, ALLBLK, Shudder and Sundance Now; several leading television networks AMC, BB, AMERICA, IFC, SundanceTV, and WE tv; film distribution label IFC Films; television production and worldwide content distribution division AMC Studios; and AMC Networks International, the company's international channels business.

Named CEO in 1995 and Executive Vice Chairman in 2021, Sapan led the company's successful spin-off from Cablevision Systems Corporation in June 2011, when AMC Networks began trading as a separate public company on the NASDAQ stock exchange.

During his tenure, Sapan evolved the business from a collection of U.S. cable channels showcasing classic movies to what is today a company known for acclaimed and popular original content. He is credited with building some of television's most influential entertainment shows, including AMC's "The Walking Dead," "Mad Men," "Breaking Bad," and "Better Call Saul;" BBC AMERICA's "Killing Eve;" IFC's "Portlandia" and "Documentary Now!;" and SundanceTV's "Rectify" and "Top of the Lake."

A champion of new voices, Sapan has brought independent film to wide audiences through IFC Films, with successes including the award-winning films Boyhood, The Death of Stalin, Boys Don't Cry and Y Tu Mamá También. In 2005, Sapan opened the IFC Center, the brick and mortar home for the brand and to DOC NYC, the largest documentary film festival in the United States.

Sapan moved the company into the targeted streaming business with the launches of prestige drama and documentary streaming service Sundance Now in 2014 and the horror-centric Shudder in 2015; the 2018 acquisition of the British-focused Acorn TV and the Black TV and film service ALLBLK; and the 2020 launch of AMC+. The success of these services now makes the company a leader in the targeted streaming business.

Sapan has received a wide range of honors including the Broadcasting & Cable Hall of Fame, NATPE's Brandon Tartikoff Legacy Award, the Paley Prize for Innovation and Excellence, and The Media Institute's Freedom of Speech Award, for his contributions to the advancement and protection of free speech.

Sapan serves on the boards of The American Film Institute, The Paley Center for Media, the Museum of the Moving Image, New York Public Radio and The New School.
